JOURNEY TO TODAY

Over the last five years we’ve transformed WPP. We’re now radically simpler, with world-class talent, leading capabilities and improved financial performance

In 2018, WPP was a complex organisation that had under-invested in key areas such as talent, creativity and technology

Today WPP is a stronger company, with a modern, integrated offer and simplified structure, and well positioned for growth

Simplified our structure

- Retired around 300 legacy brands
- Closed 840 smaller, inefficient offices
- Eliminated around 1,400 legal entities, arising from historic acquisitions
- 90+ disposals of non-core businesses, raising more than £3.8 billion

Built a world-class leadership team

- Strengthened leadership through new hires and acquired companies
- Enhanced culture and working environment
- Invested in creative and technology talent for the future

MARKET OUTLOOK

We operate in a large and growing market segment

In 2023, advertisers continued to invest in delivering marketing messages to audiences, driving global growth in advertising revenue of 5.8% to $889 billion.

IN 2023, TOTAL AD REVENUE INCREASED BY AN ESTIMATED 5.8% (2022: 6.2%)

Total advertising spend comprises three main areas – digital, television and other sectors including out-of-home (OOH), print and audio.

DIGITAL
The largest single segment of advertising spend is on digital (internet-based) channels, representing 69% of the total. Within this are three sub-groups – search, retail media and other. Digital search, eg via Google or Bing (32% of the total) grew 7.8% in 2023. Retail media (retailers using their websites to sell advertising space) is the smallest segment (19% of digital), but is growing quickly, up an estimated 9.8% in 2023. The largest retail media platforms, by ecommerce gross merchandise value in 2022, were Alibaba, Amazon and JD.com. The remaining 49% of digital includes social and short-form media from companies including Meta, YouTube and TikTok.

Digital
69% advertising revenue classified as digital

Total digital ad spend accelerated throughout 2023, growing an estimated 9.2%, excluding US political advertising. Digital ad spend is anticipated to remain the fastest-growing segment, expanding on average 7.4% on a compound annual basis through to 2028, driven by search, social and retail media channels, and is forecast to represent 76% of total global ad spend by 2028.

TV
Television remains a significant channel for global ad revenue, representing 18% of the total in 2023, given its ability to satisfy advertisers’ brand-reach goals. Within this, linear TV ad revenue fell an estimated 4.3% as advertisers moved to data-driven channels including connected TV streaming services, which are estimated to have grown 10% in 2023 as they provide more data to target audiences and more closely measure ad campaign results. Looking ahead, global total TV ad revenue is expected to grow a modest 1% on a compound annual basis through to 2028, driven mostly by connected TV, offsetting the declines in linear TV.

Print, including both traditional and digital forms of newspapers and magazines (6% of the total), is expected to decline 4.6% in 2023 as audiences switch to digital versions and print becomes less commercially viable.

Out-of-home advertising (4% of total spend) is forecast to grow 10.3% in 2023, benefiting from the ongoing resurgence of travel and airport advertising. Within this, digital OOH (eg digital billboards) is forecast to grow 18.1% in 2023.

Audio ad revenue fell 2.9% in 2023. Within this, demand for streaming music and podcast services continued to grow strongly, offsetting the decline in terrestrial radio services.

Over the next five years to 2028, growth in other channels is forecast to be driven by OOH digital advertising, masking declines in print and audio channels.

COUNTRIES
During 2023 the industry saw positive growth across all major markets. The US, the largest ad market, representing 39% of total spend, is estimated to have grown 5.7% in 2023 compared with 7.1% in 2022, led by digital channels.
The US is the largest ad market, accounting for 39% of total ad spend.

China, the second-largest market (16% of total spend), grew 6.1%, driven by digital and OOH spend, bouncing back from the 0.6% decline in 2022 due to Covid-related lockdowns. Growth in the UK, the third biggest market, remained strong at 4.4%, driven by digital advertising channels such as social media, albeit less than the 8.9% growth achieved in 2022.

Among other major markets, Brazil and India achieved double-digit growth of 10% and 11% respectively, led by social media in the former and retail media spend in the latter. In the more mature ad markets of Germany, France and Canada, ad spend growth continued between 3% and 4% – slightly down on 2022. In the 10th largest market, Australia, growth was flat year-on-year.

A fast-changing and complex market

Our clients are facing an ever-more complex marketing environment that presents new opportunities to advertise, but also more fragmentation. This in turn requires more advice from agencies, which is expected to be a positive driver of future growth. This complexity is being driven by:

- AI influencing where and how clients invest their money
- Social and influencer channels shaping consumer behaviour
- The convergence of culture and entertainment; for example Super Bowl LVIII was viewed by 123 million people, the largest audience in the history of the Big Game
- Clients requiring more data and more insights from that data
- The rapid evolution of media channels providing advertisers new ways to reach consumers, such as retail media channels and TV streaming platforms introducing ad-supported tiers
- Significant geopolitical events and an increasingly polarised political environment
